

Small Business Blog Checklist

What separates a blog post that actually earns traffic from one that just fills space.

BEFORE YOU WRITE

- ☐ You know what real question or problem this post answers
- ☐ You have checked what is already ranking for that topic
- ☐ You have a specific reader in mind — not "everyone"

BEFORE YOU PUBLISH

- ☐ Meta title and description are written by hand, not left to auto-generate
- ☐ At least one internal link points to a relevant service or product page
- ☐ Images are compressed and have alt text
- ☐ It has been proofread out loud, once

WRITING IT

- ☐ The title clearly states what the reader will get
- ☐ The first two or three sentences answer the core question directly
- ☐ The post is broken into scannable sections with real subheadings
- ☐ It includes specifics — real numbers, examples, local references — not generic filler
- ☐ It ends with a clear next step: contact, a related service, or a related post

AFTER YOU PUBLISH

- ☐ Share it on the social channels your customers actually use
- ☐ Include it in the next newsletter send
- ☐ Revisit and refresh it if it goes stale — pricing, dates, or screenshots change
